Phone Skills Needed.

Job Description:

We are looking for a couple of highly motivated folks to make calls promoting my motivational and sales training seminars. Working remotely is fine, so they can live anywhere. I need your help finding just the right people. If you know of someone who loves working with people, has great a great phone voice and would like to make excellent money part or full-time, please let me know. Strong ethics and tenacity are super important!

If you are applying, please include some information such as: brief work history, references, where you live, your availability and contact information.
